Competitors	URL	Purpose of Site	Summary of Content	Notable Features	Visual Styling Strengths	Overall Weaknesses	Analysis
David Shaver	http://www.davidshaver.net/	Game Design portfolio to showcase projects.	Introduction message with a navbar of projects brocken down in profesional and personal projects.	Good formating of projects with stimulating visuals of projects.	Simplistic design that is not overwhelming.	Also, simplistic design, styling is bare and strictly functional. Can be a benefit or weakness of having a simple desing, just to show project information, but not flashy or enjoyable to look at.	Generic and basic example of a portfolio site to show a list of projects and some information about the project.
Ary Shirazi	http://www.arashshirazi.co.uk/	Portfolio site to show game projects.	Very media heavy. Showing a lot of visuals of pictures and videos of projects.	Very media focused to actually see what the game and projects look like.	Page lands on a jumbotron that shows crisp visuals of projects that cycle.	Aside from the jumbotron on the home page there is nothing els on the page. Especially the down arrow labled "scroll down" that only reveals a link to a linkedin page.	Very media heavy portfolio to show and not tell about projects. some aspects seem bare such as the home page nad the contact me section looks simple and not responsive.
Marc Thomas	http://mrcthms.com/	To show case work done for design.	Site is one site that links to a github, instagrame, and twitter.	The page is one page its simple and uses popping colors to entice viewers.	The site is like an interactive business card, looks great on mobile as well.	Could be too simple, just shows the base information.	Shows bare information but enough information to link to projects , a contact button, and description about himself.
454 Creative	http://454creative.com/	Desgin firms website to showcase projects worked on.	Site has pages to their projects and contact us page, a interest form, a list of services, an about page and a blog.	Media heavy with live video playing in the background of the site. With very responsive desgin.	Text and buttons are all animated and looks lively just for moving the curser around.	I think the live video might be lagging my system a bit.	The website feels alive where everything you do has a reaction.
